

Sample Lecture

Anesthesia Toolbox Project

Faculty Disclosure

- None

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of this activity, participants will be able to

- Describe the xx
- Define different types of xx
- Identify contributing xxx
- xxx
- xxx

Hemorrhage in Obstetric Patients

- Hemorrhage is common
- Major cause of morbidity and mortality
- 12-17% of pregnancy related deaths related to hemorrhage

Summary

- Blah blah
- Blah blah
- Blah blah
- Reiterate your key points here

Suggested Reading

- Smith HS. Opioid metabolism. Mayo Clin Proc. 2009;84(7):613-624.
- Hata T, Todd M. Cervical spine considerations when anesthetizing patients with Down Syndrome. Anesthesiology. 2005;102:680-685.
- Ali FE, Al-Bustan MA, Al-Busairi WA, Al-Mulla FA, Esbaita EY. Cervical spine abnormalities associated with Down syndrome. International Orthopaedics. 2006; 30(4):284-289.
- NOTE the format of the suggested reading. All should be in 14pt font and represent key articles or reviews. Try to keep to only 10-12. Use a separate slide for Additional Reading if you have more articles that would really only be for reference.

Quiz Question #1

A chronic pain patient who is maintained on morphine therapy has 6-acetylmorphine present on their urine toxicology exam. Which option below would be the single most appropriate response?

- A. Transition to an alternative opioid that will undergo a more favorable metabolic pathway
- B. Contact the police regarding concern for illicit substance use in this patient
- C. Refer the patient for substance abuse treatment